I Will Make You Fishers Of Men

Matt 4: 18-22

When the disciples laid down their fishing nets and chose to follow Jesus, He then gave them a new mission —"I will make you fishers of men." This was not merely a vivid metaphor, but a sacred promise and a defining declaration of their new identity.

In the past, these fishermen caught fish to make a living; their goal was limited to the fish in the sea. But as Christians, to "fish for men" means working for the salvation of souls for eternity; the mission now reaches out to the countless number of lost ones. At its core lies a deep love for humanity and a burden for those who are perishing. The focus of a follower of Jesus shifts from temporary material gain to the eternal value of life.

"I will make you fishers of men". These words make it clear that the ability to win souls does not come from the fishermen's own skills, nor from our eloquence or personal charm, but entirely from Jesus Christ. Just as fishing requires an understanding of the sea and fish behaviour, winning souls calls for insight into the human heart and the guidance of the Holy Spirit. Both the guidance and power are granted by the Lord Himself. We do not persuade others by our own strength, but look to the Lord's mighty power and the work of the Holy Spirit.

The former fishermen once focused solely on how to catch more fish from the sea. Now, their purpose in life has shifted to rescuing and nurturing those souls in need. They have learnt to cast the net of the Gospel—to reach those lost in sin and confusion, drawing them into the kingdom of God. This transformation is complete— from a life centred on self-preservation and material gain to one devoted to the redemption and growth of others' souls in the service of God's kingdom.

Dear brothers and sisters, as disciples of Jesus, all of us have been given a new identity and a great commission—to be fishers of men. Our lives are no longer meant to be lived for ourselves, but to glorify God and to bring lost souls before Him. This calling is full of challenges, yet it overflows with eternal meaning and glory. Today, let us re-examine the purpose of our lives and ask the Lord to guide us as we take up and live with this precious identity as fishers of men, so that our lives may shine as beacons leading others to Christ. Amen!

Wise Tips for Singles

Someone who cannot find joy in singleness will find it tough to find true happiness in marriage. I am deeply grateful for the speaker's practical and heartfelt sharing— not only does it equip singles to prepare for marriage, it also draws all of us closer to God. Whether single or married, every one of us can experience the beauty of living in His presence.
