Proclaim God's Love, Enlighten One's Life

Go! (Acts 9:15)

In Acts 9, after Saul persecuted Jesus, he heard Jesus' voice from heaven asking him why he persecuted Jesus. Paul fell on the ground, and after he got up from the ground, he opened his eyes and could see nothing. For three days he was blind. Jesus called Ananias in a vision and asked him to pray for Saul. Saul's sight only got recovered after that. Jesus didn't ask his top three disciples – Peter, Jacob, or John – but called Ananias to do this. It was the first time Ananias' name shows up in the Bible, which means he was not someone famous. And Ananias refused the job at first, until Jesus called him and asked him: Go!

What would happen to Saul, who later became the Apostle of Christ, if Ananias hadn't followed Jesus' order and prayed for Saul? As the Covid-19 vaccinations progress, many areas, including workplaces, are opening up step by step. However, as the pandemic has lasted for more than a year, everything has changed. People and things, especially people's psychological state, are no longer the same. It is a time for us to make adjustments to our environment. It is also a time we have to make changes in our workplace. Would you like to listen to Jesus, just like Ananias did, and just "Go!"?

The workplace is like a huge field to spread the seeds of Gospel. Therefore, people must be prepared before they step into the workplace. Whenever there is a problem in the workplace, people should be able to tackle the difficulties with principles from the Bible. Global Reachout has produced the "Workplace Strategy" program for you, so that you may grow within the workplace. We would like to invite you to join our program as the audience, and wish to receive your feedback and testimonies.

Just Go!

Audience Feedback

Thanks to Dr. Huang for his sharing. With enough patience, love and guidance, the child with Autism spectrum disorder was changed slowly. "Special needs Children can also Shine" (Ho Miow Chim, 26/3)

The program "Special Needs Children can also Shine" discussed the topic about children with special needs with a lot of touching and detailed points. The program was easy for the audience to understand. (Lingyin, Singapore, 2/4)

My son has Autism spectrum disorder. He had difficulty with social communication. He is not able to speak meaningful sentences at three years and ten months old. As parents, how can we help him? (WeChat Audience, China, 8/4)

The host was moderate in speech, and was also warm and touching. The program was very educational. (Mr Chen, Singapore, 2/4)

Ms Kong has given a lot of systematic advice in his sharing. I have learned a lot from him. I followed his model and changed my behavior in the workplace. Many things have become much clearer to me. (Sister Zhu, China, 9/4)

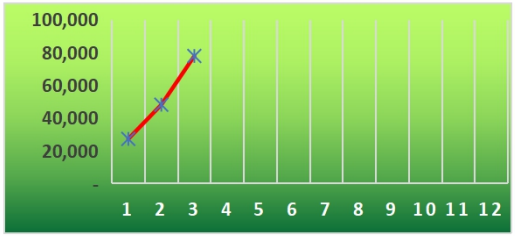

Family report & intercession matters

1. Please pray for all of our team members and all the guest speakers. May the Lord bless us and our family members. May all of the recording and post-production may be blessed by our Lord, so we can do what God has asked.

2. A couple of the churches in Singapore and Malaysia have started using our Happy Family for their fellowship and Cell groups. Meanwhile, we have received a letter from a pastor in Canada who has confirmed that our Global Reachout programs are able to help with the teaching in his church. Churches, organizations, and Seminaries are welcome to make use of our programs (including the videos) to attract more believers, and spread the Gospel! Please contact us!

3. We are looking for an experienced videographer(s) (part-time/full-time) with a proficient level of video production. The duties and tasks include: Video shooting, on-site coordination, post-production editing of video projects, and encoding videos for any required format. We are looking for a Christian who is capable of working as a good team player. If you are interested, please contact juatkew.loh@global-reachout.org
