HE WILL TEACH YOU

(John 14:26)

In John 14:26, we see Jesus promise his disciples that the Father will send the Holy Spirit -- more specifically, "the Helper, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name. He will teach you all things and bring to your remembrance all that I have said to you". This verse is like a shining lamp, revealing the important role of the Holy Spirit as our teacher and guide in both our work and daily life.

Today's workplace is evolving rapidly, marked by intense pressure and constant uncertainty. Workplace individuals often face challenges that exceed their understanding, constituting thorny ethical dilemmas, difficult decisions shrouded in the unknown, on top of a relentless push for performance and efficiency. In the face of all this, it's only natural to feel overwhelmed or even lost.

Yet Jesus' promise stands firm like an anchor amid this fierce storm: the Holy Spirit will "teach us all things." This is not about receiving new revelations, but the powerful work of the Holy Spirit: He brings to our remembrance and applies the truths as practically taught by Jesus Christ. This means that we are not left to rely on our limited strength in a workplace filled with temptations and difficult choices, nor are we called to follow worldly trends or human judgment blindly. Instead, we are called to depend wholeheartedly on the guidance of the Holy Spirit, living out God's principles with clarity and courage.

In this era of rapid digitalization and the explosive tsunami of AI (Artificial Intelligence), we are confronted with an overwhelming explosion of information, How can Christians like us tell the truth apart from falsehood amid this flood? How can we make choices that are both morally sound and truly effective?

At this moment, the role of the Holy Spirit as the Paraclete—a Greek term for "Helper", "Comforter," and "Advocate"—becomes especially vital. He goes beyond just offering easy answers, and walks the extra mile to help us think clearly and perceive what truly matters. He teaches us how to apply God's eternal and unchanging Word to real-life situations, enabling us to make judgments that transcend worldly wisdom.

Yet in the face of the many challenges of the workplace, how often we, swayed by the noise of our surroundings, and the turbulence of our emotions, forget God's teachings! John 14:26 offers another vital reminder: "...and will remind you of everything I have said to you..."

Essentially, this is the work of the Holy Spirit: It quietly reminds us of God's Word within our hearts, helping us anchor in the truth and stay on the right path, when you and I face difficult choices, experience injustice, or grow weary en route.

Thus, workplace Christians should keep their hearts open and attentive, listening to the subtle voice of the Holy Spirit. The Spirit's guidance may come in the form of inner peace, a sudden insight, or timely counsel from others.

May we humbly open our hearts each day to receive the Holy Spirit's directed teachings and timely reminders. May we seek no personal glory in the workplace, with the only desire to be guided by the Spirit, radiating light and warmth as we go about our respective roles. May our Paraclete—our Comforter, Helper, and Source of Wisdom—lead us always, accomplishing God's good purposes through our work until the day Christ returns!
